DDR designs browser-based reporting applications that are easy to learn and use, and provide a clear view into your organization's most complicated financial structures. Common responsibility and variance reporting features include powerful point-and-click research functionality that allows you to quickly drill down through accrual, invoice, purchase order, check history, and even materials management information. Implementing a DDR browser-based financial reporting solution means:

- Decision makers at all levels have the information they need to proactively make course corrections
